

UMass Boston

Project

Campus Center
100 Morrissey Blvd.
Boston, MA

Design

Kallmann, McKinnell
& Wood

Date

Summer 2001

Scope

250 Workstations
120 Private Offices
Executive
Conference Rooms

The Campus Center at UMass Boston was intended to create a more vibrant and exciting space for the community to interact on the campus. There was also an opportunity to create a more direct connection to the Boston waterfront and the Columbia Point peninsula, which the University shares with the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library. The building has provided the university with additional space for offices, classrooms, student offices, food service, meeting areas and lounges.

