What do we do?

When your workplace needs involve locations beyond Storr's primary market area, our resources as a member of the Steelcase dealer network can provide a solution you can rely on. Steelcase dealers offer much more than top-quality office furniture. They blend the support of the industry's largest manufacturer with in-depth knowledge of local markets to deliver a product and services offering that's second to none.

How we do it.

As a locally owned and operated business community for more than 90 years, we bring in-depth knowledge of local vendors, transportation and storage facilities, financial resources and more. And as a Steelcase dealer, we're able to draw on product and service support from a world-class corporation with an unparalleled record of innovation and quality. We offer a single point of contact and accountability for all of the following both in our local markets (North Carolina and Tampa, Florida) and nationwide:

- Needs analysis
- Space planning and design
- Product specification
- Timely and accurate order placement
- Delivery and installation
- Product storage
- Punch list resolution
- Ergonomic consulting services
- Maintenance and repair services
- Ongoing asset management
- Rental, leasing and other financial services

Why do you need it?

When you turn to Storr as a one-stop resource for your workplace needs, you can be confident of consistent product quality and reliable execution nationwide. And using a single point of contact provides direct accountability, reduces time and paperwork and frees up your staff to focus on other, more productive areas. Let Storr and the Steelcase dealer network provide productive and cost-efficient workspace solutions for your company and all its locations.
