

Leveraging Technology

Service Profile

What do we do?

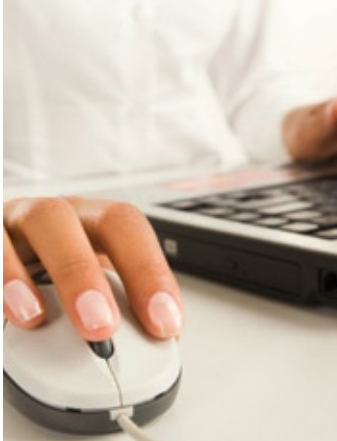

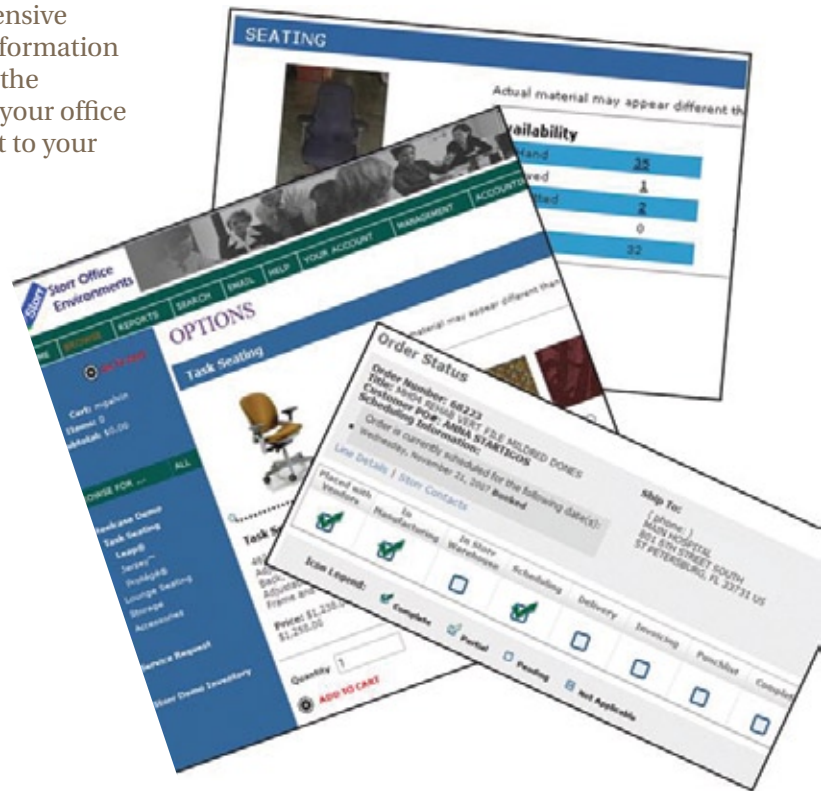

At Storr, we're committed to leveraging business automation to operate more efficiently and serve our customers better. Our eStorr portfolio of technology tools provides an innovative business platform that gives you 24-7 access to project updates, detailed reports on your furniture investment and more.

How we do it.

eStorr takes customer service and communications to the next level by opening a new level of transparency into our systems and processes and bringing detailed workplace management information right to your desktop. eStorr puts a wealth of resources at your disposal to make doing business on the web easy and cost-effective. We can help you proactively manage your furniture assets, orders, and service requests; including potentially linking to your existing business or procurement tools. Our web tools can provide summarized or detailed real-time status information on all your orders, including scheduling information.

Why do you need it?

In today's technology-intensive business environment, information is power. eStorr brings all the information you need on your office furniture investment right to your desktop and makes communications with your workspace partner of choice easy and instantaneous. Doing business in the 21st Century demands 21st Century business tools. That's just what you'll get with eStorr.
